MODULE 1

Recognizing Gender & Racial Harassment & Discrimination

BPC §7583.6(b) | Title 16 CCR §643(b)

Legal Definitions

Harassment: unwelcome conduct based on protected characteristic that creates hostile environment

Racial harassment: slurs, stereotypes, hostile conduct based on race or ethnicity

Gender harassment: unwelcome conduct based on sex, gender identity, or pregnancy

California FEHA (Gov. Code §12940) prohibits all forms of workplace harassment

Security guards are covered — as employees AND in their interactions with the public

Bystander liability: failing to stop harassment can create employer liability

Guard's Responsibilities

NEVER engage in harassment or discriminatory enforcement

Do not allow harassment of the public on your post

Document and report all observed harassment incidents

Treat all persons equally regardless of race, gender, religion, age, disability, national origin

Enforcement decisions must be based on observed behavior ONLY

Disparate enforcement = civil rights violation and liability for MACCESS INC.

Respect — Stereotyping, Attitude & Professionalism

BPC §7583.6(b) | Title 16 CCR §643(b)

Understanding Stereotyping

Stereotyping: applying generalized beliefs about a group to an individual

Race, age, dress, or neighborhood are NEVER reasonable bases for suspicion

Stereotyping increases civil liability and reduces effectiveness

Every contact must be based on specific, articulable, observed behavior

Racial profiling is prohibited under California law — Penal Code §13519.4

Document the specific behavior — not the person's appearance or race

Professional Attitude Standards

Approach every contact professionally — first impressions matter

Remain calm under pressure — your attitude sets the tone

Treat every person as you would wish to be treated

Command respect through professionalism — not intimidation

Arrogance and aggression increase conflict and liability

Your behavior reflects MACCESS INC. and the security profession

Verbal Skills & Crisis Intervention

BPC §7583.6(b) | Title 16 CCR §643(b)

Core Verbal Skills for Guards

Active listening: acknowledge what the person said before responding

Paraphrasing: 'What I hear you saying is...' — confirms understanding

Open-ended questions: 'What seems to be the problem?' vs. 'Stop!'

Neutral tone: even, calm, non-threatening regardless of situation

Avoid ultimatums early — leave room for the subject to comply voluntarily

Use the person's name if known — humanizes the interaction

Crisis Intervention Principles

Slow the situation: rapid response often accelerates crises

Establish rapport before giving directives

Validate feelings: 'I can see you're frustrated' — does not mean agreement

Offer choices: giving options restores a sense of control

Know when to call for backup: do not try to manage crisis alone

Document all crisis contacts — including what verbal tools were used

MODULE 4

Introduction to Diversity

BPC §7583.6(b) | Title 16 CCR §643(b)

Understanding Diversity

Los Angeles is one of the most diverse cities in the world — guards serve everyone

Diversity: race, ethnicity, religion, gender, age, disability, national origin, language

Cultural competence: ability to interact respectfully with diverse populations

Language barriers: use simple language, seek interpreter, use written communication

Non-verbal communication varies across cultures — do not misinterpret

Diversity awareness reduces conflict and improves public relations

Practical Application

Treat every person with dignity regardless of their background

Do not make assumptions about criminal behavior based on language or appearance

Recognize that unfamiliar behaviors may be cultural — not suspicious

When uncertain: ask respectfully, do not demand

Use professional interpreters or translation apps when available

Build community trust by being fair, consistent, and respectful to all

Signs of Mental Health Crisis

Incoherent or disorganized speech

Responding to stimuli others cannot see (hallucinations)

Extreme fear, paranoia, or aggression without apparent cause

Repetitive movements or statements

Approach: calm voice, slow movements, no sudden actions
